Focusing on LMU’s Undergraduate Learning Outcomes:

Are your students able to critically evaluate information?

How capable are they of giving an effective oral presentation?

We will look at evidence of how well LMU seniors perform these tasks, talk about ways to teach these skills, and discuss how to improve performance as we focus on LMU’s Creative and Critical Thinking and Oral Communication Undergraduate Learning Outcomes. We will also share how academic departments have addressed the Quantitative Literacy and Information Literacy evidence that was presented last spring semester.
